CELEBRITY EDUCATOR'S PINK ARMY PARTNERSHIP

LINDA DOVE

Through the Battle, You Are Not Alone

Celebrity Educator's honors one of Central Florida's shining stars for her efforts of pressing through as she battled cancer and continued her educational career path.

Linda Dove has been an educator for her entire career. She graduated from the University of Maryland in College Park, Maryland with an Elementary Education degree; returned to school to add English Language Arts certification for secondary; and then received her Master of Science Degree in Educational Leadership. Her experiences have ranged from being a classroom teacher in elementary, middle and high school to Director in Curriculum Services; and now she is the Executive Director for Florida and Talent Development for the Center for College and Career Readiness.

Her love for teaching has never changed; only the age of her students has changed from children to adolescents to young adults to adults. Her biggest lesson in life came personally in 2010 when she was diagnosed with Breast Cancer. She would be the first one to tell you that this challenge became her biggest "gift" in life.

With a certification in Music K-12, she began teaching Music at the elementary level. Soon after, she earned certification in K-6 Elementary Education which became quite helpful when budget cuts in the county put her on a job hunt at the end of the school year. She began teaching 2nd grade and has done so for the past 2 years. Though Music is one of her greatest passions, she tries to count every opportunity as one to glorify God and often integrates this art into her regular classroom instruction. Teaching is an area in which she is continuously growing and even learning herself.
